"I have used the SMG for 16 years in my classes and plan to continue - it is informative, interesting, and fun!"

-Julie Johnson, Minnehaha Academy Upper School Educator

Program Results

- 98% of teachers said students better understand the risks and rewards of investing.
- 94% of teachers said students improved their financial literacy skills.
- 96% of teachers said students have an increased awareness of how real-world events and trends affect the stock market and economy.

"SMG provides the spark necessary to get young people interested in saving. It's a uniquely authentic method of experiential learning, where students can apply research, logic, and new concepts to build portfolios and work towards financial goals."

-John Wippler, Oxbow Creek Elementary School Educator

About The Stock Market Game (SMG)

Students in grades 4-12 work in teams to invest a virtual $100,000. They gain business, math, economics, financial literacy, and critical thinking skills as they research and collaborate to make smart investment decisions. Thanks to its online format, students had access to SMG during distance learning.
